

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

May 31, 2005

Air Force Brig. Gen Sue Ellen Turner
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Brig. Gen. Turner:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. One the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 31, 2005

Letter to Brig. Gen. Sue Ellen Turner

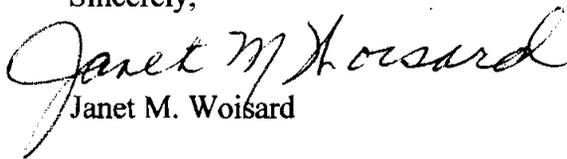

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Janet M. Woisard". The signature is written in black ink and is positioned above the printed name.

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

RECEIVED

06262005

May 31, 2005

Air Force General Lloyd W. Newton
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Gen. Newton:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 31, 2005

Letter to Air Force General Lloyd W. Newton

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

0 6 2 6 2 0 0 5

RECEIVED

May 31, 2005

Mr. Samuel K. Skinner
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Mr. Skinner:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 31, 2005

Letter to Mr. Samuel K. Skinner

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

May 25, 2005

06262005

Representative James Hansen
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Mr. Hansen:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 27, 2005

Letter to Mr. James Hansen

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

0 6 2 6 2 0 0 5

May 25, 2005

Mr. Philip E. Coyle
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Mr. Coyle:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 27, 2005

Letter to Mr. Philip E. Coyle, III

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

RECEIVED

0 6 2 6 2 0 0 5

May 25, 2005

Mr. Anthony J. Principi
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Mr. Principi:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 27, 2005

Letter to Mr. Anthony J. Principi

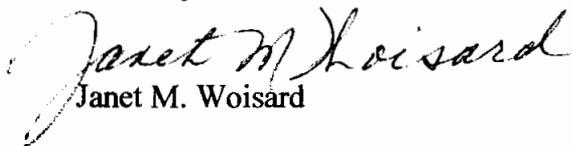

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

 RECEIVED
06262005

May 25, 2005

Representative James Bilbray
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Mr. Bilbray:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 27, 2005

Letter to Mr. James Bilbray

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

06262005

May 31, 2005

Admiral Harold W. Gehman, Jr.
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Adm. Gehman:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 31, 2005
Letter to Admiral Harold W. Gehman
Page 2

 RECEIVED
06262005

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

Janet M. Woisard

Janet M. Woisard
1216 Comer Drive
Clovis, New Mexico 88101
(505) 763-0053

0 6 2 6 2 0 0 5

May 31, 2005

Army General James T. Hill
BRAC Commission
2521 South Clark Street
Suite 600
Arlington, Virginia 22202

Dear Gen. Hill:

I am writing in regard to the proposed closing of Cannon Air Force Base. I have reviewed the Final Selection Criteria for the Department of Defense Base Closure and Realignment and I believe reconsideration must be made to the proposed closure of Cannon.

There is a vast amount of land available in the immediate area for expansion of the base to house additional troops and facilitate diverse types of training programs and military missions. The amount of airspace is nearly limitless, there is very little commercial air traffic, and the climate is mild.

With respect to the economic impact on the communities of Clovis, Portales, Melrose, Farwell, and Texico, the loss of Cannon would be devastating. On the other hand, the ability of the infrastructure of those communities to "support the forces, missions and personnel" is boundless. The local communities have always supported Cannon and welcomed its personnel. So much so that many military retirees have made Clovis their permanent home. New houses and hotels are going up and new businesses and restaurants are moving into the area.

The cost of living in these communities is relatively low, due mainly to the low cost of housing. That affords enlisted personnel the rare opportunity to invest in real estate while still in the service. In the event of a transfer, that real estate could be sold or retained as investment property so that servicemen and women may qualify to purchase another home at their new location.

The closure of Cannon Air Force Base will undoubtedly reduce the value of real property in this area, causing a severe financial blow to most current homeowners.

On a personal level, my sister moved her family from Wisconsin to Clovis four years ago so that she could afford to buy a home and stay at home to raise her five adopted and numerous foster children.

May 31, 2005

Letter to Army General James R. Hill

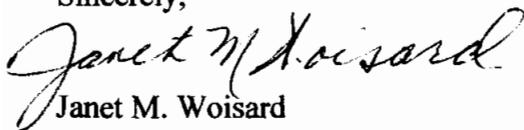

Page 2

I followed my sister to Clovis last year so that I could also buy a home and stay at home to be a foster parent, something I could never afford to do while I lived in California.

My sister and I invested every penny we had into our homes in Clovis and, like many, our homes are our retirement plans. A decline in property values would be devastating to us.

I urge you to visit Clovis and support our efforts to KEEP CANNON.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Janet M. Woisard".

Janet M. Woisard