Dear Madam or Sir,

I think that closing Canon Airforce Base is a bad idea. I think this because if it does close Clovis is going down the drain. more then half of my class mates are air force. you should not close Canon because we also have good climate to fly in and we also have alot of air and bombing space available.

It wouldn't be really smart to close Canon because alot of builders will lose their jobs and will have to move because they wouldn't have any work. alot of other works will lose their jobs and have to move. if you do close the base, were will you put another one? Also, I think that it kinda would be a good idea to close canon because there is too much noise from the planes or jets, but I want it too stay open more then I want it too close.

If the base closes and if you are a senior in high school, then if you close you won't be able to graduate. you will have to do high school all over. Then when you move you won't know anyone at your new school and you will be the odd-ball out. Please, don't close the base.

Sincerely,

Sincerely,

Kadie Glen
