However, it seems that the reality is that if you reserve rooms for those two organizations, you will be forcing other TDY personnel to stay in hotels. I would think that the analysis should be redone to shift a proportional amount of the less expensive BQ rooms so that all of the commands bear a proportionate share of the higher and lower cost accommodations. And, that also means that if the BQ allows transients, retirees, etc. to stay at the BQ, then some more of the higher cost rooms should be paid for by NSCS and OTC.*

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
1000 NAVY PENTAGON
WASHINGTON, DC 20350-1000

7 July 2005

The Honorable Anthony J. Principi
Chairman
Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission
2521 South Clark Street, Suite 600
Arlington, VA 22202

Dear Chairman Principi:

This is a partial response to the June 9, 2005 inquiries from Mr. Frank Cirillo of your staff concerning Navy Supply Corps School Athens (NSCS Athens) (DSE #1, DSE #2, DSE#3, DSE #4, DSE #5, DSE #6 DSE #7 and DSE #8, shown in italics below).

DSE #1. COBRA Run: Move NSCS Athens and Center for Service Support to Norfolk to any existing, non-BRACed base in the metropolitan Norfolk area; preferably collocated with other schools that are at least partially officer in composition. Close NSCS Museum.

Scenario DON-0126E collected data associated with moving NSCS Athens and the Center for Service Support (CSS) to NAS Oceana (Dam Neck Annex) and closing the museum at NSCS. The receiving site was selected by Commander, Navy Region MIDLANT to provide for co-location with other Officer training activities. Data collected from this scenario was used to generate a new COBRA run which is attached as DON-0126E COBRA. It should be noted that there are data inputs in this COBRA run that differ from those included in our currently submitted recommendation. Costs associated with per diem were not included in DON-0126E because of the similarity in per diem rates between Athens and the Norfolk area. Student BAH savings were included because of the lower BAH costs in Norfolk as compared to Athens. NSCS Athens increased their originally submitted one time costs associated with electronic classrooms from 960K to 3,900K and this increased cost is included in this COBRA run. However, our analysis indicates that the 3,900K increase includes equipment replacement/upgrade, that are questionable as an allowable cost for this scenario. We believe allowable costs associated with electronic classrooms should not exceed 1,500K.

DSE #2. COBRA Run: Move NSCS Athens and Center for Service Support to Naval Support Activity, Newport. Close the NSCS Museum. Include the marginal cost of housing PCSed students. The COBRA should reflect the explanation already provided to Mr. Epstein regarding the availability of BOQ rooms at Newport, which apparently are now almost fully committed to TDYed students of NSCS and Officer Training School.

Scenario DON-0126R COMM REVISION was initiated to collect data with which to populate a new COBRA run. The COBRA results are attached as DON-0126R COMM REVISION COBRA. NSCS Athens indicated that their student population will remain constant at 249 over the implementation period associated with BRAC. By subtracting the number of TAD students associated with this move, 89, from the total 249, the balance of permanent party, BAH eligible personnel equals 160. Multiplying 160 times $750 per month times 12 equals 1,440K. This cost has been added to COBRA in the revised DON-0126R COMM REVISION (Our response to DSE#6, which follows below, reflects this same BAH cost.). It should also be noted that NSCS Athens increased their originally submitted one time costs associated with electronic classrooms from 960K to 3,900K. In our response to DSE#1, we questioned NSCS Athens identified cost of 3,900K.

DSE #3. COBRA run: Move NSCS Athens and Center for Service Support to Naval Support Activity, Newport. Close the NSCS Museum. Include the marginal cost of housing PCSed students. The COBRA should reflect the explanation already provided to Mr. Epstein regarding the availability of BOQ rooms at Newport, which apparently are now almost fully committed to TDYed students of NSCS and Officer Training School. Also note that NSCS currently requires and has the physical facilities to conduct a variety of executive development courses. These facilities include contiguous BOQ rooms in close proximity to the other facilities, conference room appropriate for up to 45 students with access to food preparation facilities, "break-out" rooms of various sizes, and appropriate Audio-visual and computer facilities and networks.

The COBRA results are attached as DON-0126R COMM REVISION COBRA. The facilities to conduct the executive development courses were identified in our COBRA runs for DON-0126R, DON-0126D and DON-0126E. Previous scenarios have fully captured MILCON requirements associated with the executive education program at NSCS Athens. The costs associated with multi-media display capability is $67K.

DSE #4. COBRA run: Move NSCS Athens and Center for Service Support to Naval Support Activity, Newport. Close the NSCS Museum. Also note that NSCS currently requires and has the physical facilities to conduct a variety of executive development courses. These facilities include contiguous BOQ rooms, conference room appropriate for up to 45 students with access to food preparation facilities, "break-out" rooms of various sizes, and appropriate audio-visual and computer facilities and networks. Correct calculation of the marginal BHA costs, as recognized in CAPT Summerlin e-mail of 0737 on June 9, 2005.

The COBRA results are attached as DON-0126R COMM REVISION COBRA. The facilities to conduct the executive development courses were identified in our COBRA runs for scenarios DON-0126R, DON-0126D and DON-0126E. Previous scenarios have fully captured MILCON requirements associated with the executive education program at NSCS Athens. The costs associated with multi-media display capability is $67K. Please see the response to DSE #2 regarding the corrected calculation of marginal BHA costs.

DSE #5. COBRA run and Other: The explanation of the delta in per diem costs between Athens, GA and provided by LCDR Chris Sosa seems to indicated that in most months, every available BQ room is being used by OTC or NSCS to avoid paying per diem to them. However, it seems that the reality is that if you reserve rooms for those two organizations, you will be forcing other TDY personnel to stay in hotels. I would think that the analysis should be re DON to shift a proportional amount of the less expensive BQ rooms so that all of the commands bear a proportionate share of the higher and lower cost accommodations. An, that also means that if the BQ allows transients, retirees, etc., to stay at the BQ, then some more of the higher cost rooms should be paid by NSCS and OTC.

The Per Diem study assessed the impact of all BRAC scenarios relocating TAD personnel into NAVSTA Newport. The impact was measured against available excess capacity at NAVSTA Newport. The berthing capacity at NAVSTA Newport was analyzed based on monthly occupancy rates. For the purposes of the study, the maximum monthly occupancy rate of 95% was used. In no month was the occupancy rate in excess of 95%, indicating available capacity that can be more efficiently used with introduction of additional requirements. The study did not displace already existing requirements that were not relocating away from NAVSTA Newport in other Candidate Recommendations. Therefore, the total requirements for other commands are already met based on their current usage of transient facilities, and the study does represent the impact of BRAC decisions on the berthing capacity, and resulting costs/savings, at NAVSTA Newport. Please note that BRAC data has identified costs for TDY housing attributed to BRAC action, but does not allocate a particular percentage of BOQ rooms to particular commands or allocate proportionate costs among the commands that will require TDY housing. Please refer to DON-0126R COMM REVISIONS COBRA (previously attached in response to DSE #2) and DON-0126D COBRA, which is attached in response to DSE #6).

DSE #6. COBRA run: The DoD COBRA appears to move all of the current base employees, including all students, but excluding BOS personnel, to NAVSTA Newport. It appears that the Marine contingent can be moved to a USMC Aviation facility. There would be some substantial one time computer and facilities costs and some continued information systems maintenance, but this might be less expensive than moving the Marines to Newport. Please investigate and redo the COBRA if appropriate. Please note that several of the other questions and COBRA's in this set of questions may be affected by this observation.

The results of the COBRA run including moving NSCS and CSS to NAVSTA Newport, the ALTIS course to NAS Meridian and disestablishing the museum at NSCS Athens are provided in the attached COBRA run, DoN-0126D COBRA (see previous response to DSE #2). It should be noted that naval Education and Training Command did not support the relocation of training to NAS Meridian because of a proposed, non-BRAC plan to relocate related Navy training from NAS Meridian to NAS Pensacola, however, Headquarters, Marine Corps, selected Meridian as the receiving site for the ALTIS course.

DSE #7 and 8. COBRA run: The DoD COBRA appears not to reflect the conference facilities, including contiguous BQ rooms, conference rooms, "break-out" rooms, food preparation facilities, and group meal serving capability. These facilities do not have to be collocated with NSCS Athens, but the additional cost of delivering these courses, including accommodations and meals should be factored into the cost of offering the course at a location that is more expensive than Athens, GA. It is our understanding that there are two courses involved -Advanced Management and Shore Station Senior Leadership, -- and that each course involves about 40 students taking the three-week course four times each year. (The SSSL course is a four-week course, with three weeks in Georgia).

The answers to DSE #7 and DSE #8 appear to be contained in previous answers. DON-0126R COMM REVISIONS, DON-0126D COBRA and DON-0126E COBRA were used to respond to your requests.

I trust this information satisfactorily addresses your concerns. Please let me know if we can be of further assistance.

Sincerely,
